While on skateboard, almost everyone has a basic concept (board has four wheels), it is probably foodcore the name used by the first Adam. What is? Among other things, you can find this below.

- What they asked the Indians at the sight of the board?

- Most were surprised by such a mode of transport, where we filmed a lot of us from the cells, images were made and ended up on a little show and a few bruised (after all everyone wanted to try). Sometimes we would stop police, mainly to themselves to do some photos with us. I drove around town for the rickshaws, we did not have to pay:)

- Skateboarding is not the most popular sport in India?

- Definitely not! Although we thought that we would be first, in the Himalayas (near Manali), I met a Hindu on the board after the mountain routes. Semen, so called because he had an old skateboard, his elephant painted in a kind of graffiti and generally was very cool (ie, Semen, elephant only accompanied us for a while). He did not know too much about and taught him the grounds - even quickly what was going on. Hopefully we'll see him soon in some occupations, as the representative of India.

- And how to move the walls to the Alpine heights? At 4000 - 5000 meters above sea level unless you can already feel the lack of oxygen?.

- The exact amount of the board I was not in the middle of September already pretty good and rather snowing could snowboard- maybe one day will be the second edition of the departure of the snow board in the main role?
